Taste of OLLI: An Intellectual Buffet
Fall 2015

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at CSU Channel Islands brings courses to Ventura County on Wednesdays in Ventura from 1-3pm and in Thousand Oaks on Saturdays from 10-12pm. Mini-courses provide superior intellectual enrichment in a variety of topics. The enrollment fee is $15.00 per single lecture, or $55 for the entire Ventura series or $55 for the entire Thousand Oaks series if paid in advance. Participants may enroll with a credit card by calling (805) 437-2748 Mon-Fri, 8am – 5pm before the classes they wish to attend, or by mailing the attached form with a check (no cash please) at least one week before the first class to be attended.

HLTH 1001: Comparison of Healthcare Systems Between US & Europe Michael Teasdale

We always hear how good other Healthcare systems are compared to our system. Is that true? What are the ingredients in some of the European models that makes them appear excellent? What is the history that led them to adopt these systems? How does that compare to the U.S. system? These questions and more will give a snapshot of the various healthcare systems in the industrialized world.

SOC 1002: Marcus Aurelius at Google? Holly Sacks

The emotional intelligence course at Google is called Search Inside Yourself. With thousands of Google employees trained since 2007 and a six-month long waiting list, it remains the company’s most popular training class. The program’s founder, Google employee #107, Chade-Meng Tan, begins his bestselling book with a quote from Marcus Aurelius’ “Look within; within is the fountain of all good.” The lecture will provide an overview of the Search Inside Yourself curriculum and discuss the three steps involved in the development of emotional intelligence at Google.

ANTH 1003: Cuba 101

Cuba is a fascinating country that lies just 90 miles off our shores yet remains shrouded in mystery. Given recent developments in the relationship between Washington and Havana, there is no time like the present to learn more about one of our closest yet most distant neighbors. This lecture will offer an introduction to the past and present Cuba that can be gleaned through art, literature, film, music, architecture, and snapshots of daily life on the island. This will be a snapshot which will be further developed in a spring class.
